Miss REAGAN.

Miss Heagan, the milliner, is also in the northoast conter and shows several beautiful pattern into trimined in the latest feetimes. Beautiful them are miny tany articles from her extensive and slaborate street. The exhibit, though not large, a a substitute of the cost is that of W. H. Taylor and it does be orthoast street. BARRIE BROTHERS.

The display of the inoughridge, the milliner, was in the politic row and was greatly elanized by the ladies. The display comprised some pattern late triumped in the latest Eashlors—consequently the center of attraction.

BEAUTIFUL NEEDLEWORK. Perhaps the hundsomest fenture of the sarahual was the exhibit by Miss Emma Cooper, agent for the White. New Home and Lemestin sewing machines at 309 Houston street, Her booth was filled with are embrodieries made by Miss. Cooper on the machines she sells, and showing the most exquisite tasts and skilled work-manship. One piece is of lowers worded in veiling, another a waterfall worked in bolting cloth, Miss Cooper is proud of her machines and her work as she has reason to be and cheerfully shows their workings and gives practical tests.

LOGAN & EVANS.

This cuterprising firm as usual was in the frent with a beautiful isouth, the handiwork of Miss Mamie Fughes, who has it in charge, and Mr. Plice Mas dox. The booth was of white and gold and flanked by lace ourtains. In the cases and against the walls were displayed shree for all stars and conditions of people. Thick saled, tight-laced hunting boots crowded the alasts and fragile ball elippers made of pink satin. Baddes' shows were near neighbors to men's strong boots covered the night-or to men's strong hosts. Overgations in tan, brown and black, riding beggins, patent leather polish and line French polish, were also in stock and sold at store prices.

A good line of slippers, which are always popular during the holidays, is velvet and famey leathers, were also shown.

COLLINS & ARMSTRONG.

One of the richiest looking booths. In the entire exhibition is that of Gallins & Armstrong, the material going into the make-up and the artistic manner in which the drayeries are arranged accounting for this. The hangings are mostly of plain and vericolared. Some of the drayeries are benutifully worked in silk with floral designs. The floor is covered with handsome rings and the booth supplied with every allowing the supplied with several plain chairs. From the walls are also suspended some oil pictures elegantly framed.

An apright Handsome plane finished in antique oak and an organ comprise the exhibit, sufficient to show that this firm handles the finest makes in planes and organs.

F. M. HOWE.

The large, handsomely triumed booth just to the felt as one enters the building is that of Me. F. M. Howe, the Main street drangist. The bosth is decorated with the initional colors. A large cabinet, occupying the wall space in the rear contains bundreds of bottles of cologoes, perfumes, hair tonics and other toler securities and invuries. A standing case to the left is completely filled with toilst some of the finest makes, while in the larger case are perfumes of standard makes, extra the qualities in out glass bottles, perfume atomizers of all sizes, some language and small sizes to the same are perfumed at attended hair broshes, and numerous other toilet articles. The stand is attended by Misses Tipto and Foster.

J. P. TAYLOR.

J. P. Taylor, fruit dealer at 204 Main street, both in the enter of the room. It is red, white and blue and oranimated with fancy Christmas tree decorations that give it quite a inclinary apparance. Fine confectionery, fruits, nuts and other delices—are disposed by Misses Nannie Magrader, Nancie Cultier-ison and Albe Walker, who have charge of the business.

MADDOX & ELLISON.

MADDOX & ELLISON.

A blue house is one of the first features of the earnival that strikes the eye from its uniqueness. It contains the extition the eye from its uniqueness. It contains the extition of Medex. Ellison & Co. The house is about ten feet high and has asloping roof, and through the o entreast the interior, furnished to represent a drawing-form, can be soon. The floor is carpeted and the bins interior makes a good background for the furniture, which is of the handsoness and latest design being in white and gold and oak. On the walls were hung a number of works of are and the place had a look of extiness about it that was very aviling to the beholder. This beeth is one of the most unique and consequently noticeable booths in the entire in the content of the third of the most unique.

ONE OF THE PRETTIST.

Corrainty one of the prettiest and most tastly of all the displays is that made by J. E. Mitchell, the jowder. The Main street show window of Mr. Mitchells store is an example, of the artistic skill of the decorator in charge, and the same taste has been shown in the arrangement of the booth. A suspended beside of flowers gives a resultil select of nature to the surveyminings of art. The high-class levelry and art goods dealt in by Mr. Mitchell are shown to great advantage in this handsome display. There are souvent species, that crimpt the beholder to exchange his cash for what by sees here. And not by any means the least attractive part of this handsome display is the bewinding mixed with has classified.

Miss Laiu Bates, who presides, main that the one of the popular gathering places. The display of hos shoes and slippers in leather, satin or slik, shows that art has its place here, too, and can make the useful and necessary foot-covering a thing of beauty. The exhibit is not a large emain, one to growed the space, but it is thereafty complete in representing all the varieties of sheet, and shows a discriminating lasts in purchasing as well as in displaying what is purchased.

A GENEROUS GIPT.

Owing to the last that the space was sumewhat limited in the building, several of the Intending exhibitors were crowled out-sameng them being the Crawford Dry Goods company. As the result of this the ladies lest the profits of the sake that would have resulted had the company opened a beeth. So the Crawford Dry Goods Co., generously handed in their models for $25, a gracious act for which the miles express their gratimals.

Washer Bros., also were helt out in the cold and to get even they donated a handsome smoking jacket to the carried, which will be said.

The demand was excelled, but the small sales indicate that of our fairly good stack, very little is being offered for sale by holders. The same condition of affairs exists throughout the interior and incomist for the very short offerings of
f. o. 0. cotton.

be as to the advisability of putting their momer into actual cotton as an investinear into actual concerns, that is,
it will reduce the supply offering at a time when we will be likely to find the most active and concern of spots we have had for a manther of years.
